Ousted theologian at CU reinstated, 'strike' ends

by William Ryan

WASHINGTON -- Father Charles E. Curran, whose dismissal from the University of Colorado faculty last year has become a symbol of the battle between the church and scientific experts, was reinstated today by a federal judge after a four-day trial.

The trial, which began April 18, was held before U.S. District Judge Richard D. Ritchie.

Father Curran, whose suspension as professor of theology was upheld by the board of trustees in September, appealed to the federal court. The court ruled that the university's actions were unconstitutional.

The university had fired Father Curran for refusing to sign a pledge that he would not publish any theological works that he could not defend in public discourse. The pledge was a condition of his employment.

The university had also fired two other professors, Father Joseph J. Coughlin and Father John W. O'Reilly, for refusing to sign the pledge.

The court ruled that the university's actions were unconstitutional, and Father Curran was reinstated.

The case has been appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court, which has not yet ruled.

The university announced today that it would appeal the decision to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Theology schools get a post-conciliar look

by Paul Fox

St. Meinrad, Ind. -- Theology schools are getting a post-conciliar look, according to Father Francis A. Holman, a theology professor at St. Meinrad Archabbey.

"Theology schools are beginning to change," Father Holman said. "The Concilium of 1965 has had a major influence on theology schools, and this is evident in the new emphasis on practical theology and the importance of the laity in the Church.

"Theology schools are also beginning to focus more on the needs of the Church, and this is reflected in the emphasis on pastoral theology and the training of priests for the ministry."

Let's Keep Moving..... With Mayor John J. Barton

Mayor John J. Barton
A MAN OF ACTION, NOT WORDS

- Construction of a much needed $20,000,000 civic center and exposition hall will begin this year.
- The low to middle income housing problem is finally being solved — 4,000 - 5,000 new low income housing units will soon be available.
- The Indianapolis Fire Department holds the highest fire rating by the Board of National Fire Underwriters.
- For three straight years, Indianapolis has been proclaimed the safest city in it's population classification in the United States and has been awarded the National Safety Council's "Plaque of Life Trophy" as the safest city in the nation.
- Great strides have been taken in civil rights — a Negro now holds the rank of Police Inspector, the highest rank ever held by a Negro in the history of the Police Department... a Negro is a District Fire Chief now, for the first time in the history of Indianapolis.
- The American Basketball Association is coming to Indianapolis... three new municipal golf courses have been built in the last three years, and two other new ones are now under construction.
- THE LIST OF ACCOMPLISHMENTS GOES ON AND ON...

WORLD FOOD PROGRAM GIVES $10,000 TO POPE

WORLD FOOD PROGRAM has given $10,000 to Pope Paul VI, the Vatican said yesterday.

The money will be used to help feed the poor in the war-torn region of South Vietnam.

The gift was made by Cardinal John K Nuine, the Vatican's ambassador to the United Nations, who presented the money to the Pope.

The money will be used to purchase rice, which is a staple food in the region.

The Pope thanked the Vatican for the gesture and said it would be used to help those in need.

The gift is the latest in a series of donations made by the Vatican to support the poor in war-torn regions around the world.

The Curran case

The decision of the trustees of the Catholic University to recall their firing of Father Charles E. Curran in March is a step in the right direction. Father Curran was fired for speaking out against what he considered to be the church's policies and some of its teachings, specifically the church's stance on abortion and contraception.

The trustees' decision to recall Father Curran is a positive step towards restoring the university's reputation and making it a place where critical thinking and intellectual freedom are valued. It is important that universities, including Catholic ones, provide a space for open dialogue and debate on important issues.

Pope's encyclical is call for action

By John Cogley

According to the Archdiocese of New York, Pope Paul VI's encyclical on the development of peoples has sent a signal to all nations. Most of the doctrine of the encyclical is the development of peoples has been widely accepted and is expected to have a profound impact on global policy.

The encyclical, published on November 21, contains a number of principles that are widely accepted and are expected to have a profound impact on global policy. These principles include the importance of development for human dignity and the right to development as a human right. The encyclical also emphasizes the need for international cooperation and collaboration to achieve sustainable development.

When the world community meets in December at the United Nations Conference on Development and Environment, the principles of the encyclical will be at the center of discussions. The conference is expected to adopt a number of recommendations that are consistent with the principles of the encyclical.

Is Church "subject to Bible"?

By Reader N. R. Miller

The Church is a community of faith, and its leaders are responsible for interpreting the Bible and applying its teachings to the lives of believers. The Church's teachings are based on the Bible, and the Church's leaders are accountable to the Bible.

The Church's teachings are based on the Bible, and the Church's leaders are accountable to the Bible. The Church is not a state, and it is not subject to the laws of any earthly government.

By JOHN J. KANE, Ph.D.

There are a few things in this world which are more reliable than the human nature, and we are, as a general rule, people who prejudge, who do not give others a chance to prove themselves. I want to make a distinction between the two terms, prejudging, and race, so that you will be prepared for the implications of the first, which means you will judge others without knowing anything about them, whereas the second term means you will judge others because of their race, regardless of their individual qualities.

It is true that there is a great deal of prejudice in the world, but it is also true that there is a great deal of love and understanding. We must remember that love is the most powerful force in the world, and that it is the only thing that can overcome prejudice.

There are many reasons why there is prejudice in the world. One reason is that we are all born in different places, and that we grow up with different experiences. We tend to judge others based on these experiences, even if they are not relevant to the situation at hand.

Another reason is that we are all influenced by our surroundings. We learn to prejudge others from the people around us, and we tend to adopt their prejudices. This is especially true in schools, where children learn to prejudge others based on factors such as race, religion, and social class.

It is important for us to be aware of our prejudices, and to try to overcome them. We must remember that we are all human beings, and that we are all capable of loving and understanding others, regardless of their race or background.

"Deadly Affair" is a gloomy movie.

By James W. Arnold

The secret of life ("Spy Who Came in from The Cold") or "The Deadly Affair," is that it is a war game. It seems that war is a game, and if you make it seem like a game, you can win.

The air is thick with moralism. The characters in the movie are typical unenlightened, egocentric, and uninterested in anything except themselves. The man who is supposed to be in love with the woman is a typical unenlightened, egocentric, and uninterested in anything except himself. The man who is supposed to be in love with the woman is a typical unenlightened, egocentric, and uninterested in anything except himself.

Perhaps most important in the story is the way Louisa Lambert has been forced into a marriage that is not her own. She is a woman of independent spirit, and she wants nothing to do with the man who has forced her into this marriage. She is a woman of independent spirit, and she wants nothing to do with the man who has forced her into this marriage.

Oddly, the film is a love, but it is not a love story. The story is about the marriage that is not her own. The film is a love story, but it is not a love story. The story is about the marriage that is not her own.

The stage is beautifully done, and it is beautifully done. The story is about the marriage that is not her own.

Deadly Affair" is a gloomy movie. Why not make it a love story, but make it a love story about the marriage that is not her own. Why not make it a love story, but make it a love story about the marriage that is not her own. Why not make it a love story, but make it a love story about the marriage that is not her own.

Priests take action to correct inequities in income of clergy

WASHINGTON — Impossibly, it is a few weeks ago that the Church of England was inspired by a study of the Church's income statement and decided to act on the bases of a study. The study was made by the Church of England and the American Bar Association. It was filed with the Chuch of England in New York. It was filed with the Chuch of England in New York.
